INSTRUCTIONS TO NEW MAIL BIDDERS

Bidding by mail permits you to participate in an auction as though you were attending it in person. The procedure is really quite simple. You tell us what you want, and the maximum amount you are willing to pay. We then, as your personal agent, try to buy the items listed for you at the lowest possible price.

The enclosed mail bid form has two sides for you to fill in. The front side provides all the information we will need to register you as a bidder, execute your bids for you and deliver your lots to you if you are a successful bidder. Please answer all the questions that may apply to you. DON'T FORGET TO SIGN YOUR BID SHEET.

LOT	BID
50	1200
165	300
248	100
252	800

On the back side are pairs of columns where you may list your bids. After carefully reading the lot description, write down the lot number and the maximum amount you are willing to pay for that lot. Don't forget that a 10% buyer's fee will be added to your actual purchase price if you are the lucky bidder. Continue to list lot numbers and bids for each of the lots you are interested in buying.

When we receive your bid sheet, we will record your bids at the amount you have authorized us to bid for you, and we will, in addition, note any lots where an increase is authorized if absolutely needed to win the lot. For example, if the sample bid sheet shown at the right were yours, we would enter your bid on lot #10 as $600. If yours was the highest bid received, you would be the purchaser at $600. (plus 10%) or perhaps even less. If the second highest bid received on the lot was substantially less, your bid would be reduced to a "normal" increment above that second-highest bid, just as it would be if you were present at the sale yourself to execute your own bids. If you have authorized a percentage increase on the front side of your bid sheet and the bidding by others has exceeded your basic bid, we will then, as your personal agent, increase your bid to the minimum amount necessary to obtain the lot for you. The authorized increase will never be used except when your basic bid is exceeded.

Before you mail your bid sheet, do be sure to check it over to make certain you have bid on the correct lot(s) and that your bids are the ones you are both willing and able to pay for. Enjoy the catalogue, place bids on everything you would like to buy. If time is running out and you feel your bid sheet may arrive too late to be included, you may call our office between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday, giving us the lot numbers and amount you will pay for each lot, over the telephone. Please make sure you immediately send in your bid sheet for confirmation. Also, you may FAX your bid sheet to us. As your personal agents we wish you every success.

VIEWING OF LOTS

Lots will be available for viewing by prospective bidders at our office each day, Monday through Friday, by APPOINTMENT ONLY, between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. November 8-30, 1993 only.

ONE CAN ALWAYS USE ANOTHER REFERENCE BOOK

I have 3 questions to ask my fellow numismatists: (1) How many good references are there for your collecting area? (2) How many of these do you have? (3) Why don't you have the rest of them? Other than the matter of scarcity of a particular work (and an implied expense which might stretch a budget), it is essential to have as much information as possible about ones' given collecting interest.

During the past 15 years or so numismatic references have increased at an unbelievable rate; I have been told that the number of references produced during the past 5 years or so equals the total produced until that time. Not all areas, however, have produced new references at the same level of activity; references on ancient coins have "bloomed" during the past decade or so, while medieval coins, more-or-less modern coins, and paper money, while still being represented by quite a few new works, lag behind the volume produced about our "elder brethren".

One area which has seen a tremendous growth in reference material is in the field of Chinese paper money ("Egad, Matilda, this guy had an article on Chinese paper in one of their last catalogs! Is that all he can think about?"). Until the early 1960's there was little if anything available unless one could read Chinese, but then George Sten came along with his works in 1967. In 1970, Ward Smith and Brian Matravers produced their monumental reference on Chinese paper money, followed within a few years by the Pick catalogs, which have enlarged their Chinese sections with every new edition. In fact, my compatriots and I are eagerly awaiting the next editions to see the new coverage of Chinese notes. Between 1972 and 1982 King-On Mao and Mrs. S.P. Ting produced several interesting works on Chinese paper money and bonds. Although these works seemed to "cover the bases" quite well, I recall meeting Ward Smith some time in 1974 and he had a "working copy" of his book in which he recorded information about issues which had not appeared in the 1970 edition; he had notations for at least half again as many listings as in the original work. Unfortunately, a succeeding issue never materialized.

The fact that Ward Smith had found a tremendous number of notes which were not listed focuses attention on the issue that although quite good, the available references fell well short of being "the last word". Over the years, various people have produced works on their particular collecting interests in various numismatic journals, with some of these being published in book format, one notable reference being "Bank of Communications" by John Sandrock, published by the International Bank Note Society. Although the author of this work didn't come up with any new bank note varieties, he has a wealth of background information about banking in China and the bank itself. John is in the process of publishing a very interesting work dealing with banking in China during the 19th Century; I have been privileged to review some of the material in this book and it contains a tremendous amount of really "neat" stuff.

For some time during the 1970's and early 1980's I had been gathering information on banknotes issued by the various Communist entities within China with the idea of eventually producing some sort of catalog/list; this never came to pass, as more and more material kept appearing, frequently with no attribution. As I wasn't interested in producing something that would become obsolete within a month or so, the project was never completed. Still, I tried to keep up with new findings by gleaning auction catalogs, articles in journals, and other sources for new material.

Earlier this year I was made aware of the Shanghai Encyclopedia, a multi-volume work which is to cover all facets of Chinese numismatics, and became very interested in volume 11 (produced 4th in the series, I believe) dealing with banknotes issued by the Communists. Having to wait a few months for our book to arrive, I was quite impressed with most of the color photography and the range of material; however, many notes noted in other references were not included in this "corpus magnus"! Even though the work contains only Chinese text it is possible to attribute most of the notes by cross referencing others in the reference which appear in other books, but there are still quite a few which elude proper identification; we have a few of those in this catalog.

One area of Chinese paper money which may never be adequately covered is the area of local notes. By this I refer to small commercial banks, commercial firms which issued notes of various sorts, small towns, villages, and prefectures, and other entities which did not have any markings on their notes to indicate where they were produced or used. We have quite a selection of material in this catalog which falls into this category; having consulted many collectors of Chinese material, people who know the language, and other good "prospects", we still could arrive at only limited identification of many of these notes.

What would it take to produce a good reference book on this material? Why don't we have such a reference? First of all, the field is enormous, and it would take a tremendous collection of these notes, vast resources of information, and the ability to organize material for presentation to others to produce it. Having a lot of money and the patience of Job to complete the actual work would also help a great deal!

I have, in my collecting activities, come up with quite a few things which have not been available to the average collector, and I am sure that practically all of you have come upon such things as a result of your studies. I would encourage you to share your knowledge with others by submitting articles to some of the many numismatic publications which surround us, or to even consider publishing a book on your subject. Believe me, it can be a very rewarding experience. After all, we can always use another reference, can't we?
